How does express delivery work between the United States and Chile?

Express delivery services between the United States and Chile facilitate swift and efficient transportation of goods, fostering international trade and economic cooperation. When shipping from the United States to Chile, express delivery options such as FedEx, UPS, and DHL offer reliable and expedited shipping solutions.

How do foreign suppliers enter the Chilean market?

In general, foreign suppliers enter the Chilean market by appointing an agent, distributor, or wholesaler. Most are small-to-medium size firms. Several large firms handle different product lines and operate as wholesalers. Almost all the firms have their main offices in Santiago.

Can a business entity choose a corporate form in Chile?

Within the framework of Chilean law, business entities can choose between a variety of different corporate forms, each with different legal and tax implications. Since tax treatment of the various forms of businesses in Chile is similar to the United States, the choice of entity type is often guided by U.S. tax considerations.

How much does it cost to start a business in Chile?

The direct costs are approximately $1,700 for legal fees (depending on business sector) and $750 for expenses such as notary public, commercial registry, and the official gazette publication. Chile has no minimum local participation requirement, and the inclusion of local partners is guided only by commercial considerations.
